Whole Building Design Guide provides information on a range of building-related resources, criteria and technology, based in Washington, DC. A program of the National Institute of Building Sciences, WBDG is a collaborative effort among federal agencies, private sector companies, non-profit organizations, and educational institutions. Its web site is organized into three major categories: design guidance, project management, and operations and maintenance, and it offers resource pages and reductive summaries on particular topics. The site includes documents and references, a variety of desktop or web-based tools, and educational resources.
