Quarter Point Woodworking is a residential and commercial woodworking contractor and full-service CNC shop in Windham, Maine. With its CNC router equipment, Quarter Point Woodworking can cut most any wood product to order, including all types of built-ins, cabinets, mantles, stairs, office furniture, kitchens, vanities, and custom commercial products. The company keeps separate libraries for each of its customers, storing their personal preferences for construction and joinery styles, and will provide prototyping services for clients with a product idea that requires a sample.
